CASE STUDIES

- Our 3 year extensive international market intelligence assignment for a large European fashion retailer led to six successful senior placements and an external, pan-European talent pipeline. The company saw a 100% stick rate and saved 37.4% on annual recruitment costs.
- We carried out company-wide leadership coaching and cultural development for one of the largest global food manufacturers, leading to company-wide shift in leadership behaviours and double-digit growth. To drive the resulting business expansion, we filled 3 new senior roles and gathered intelligence on the European market to bolster in-house capabilities.

- Ahead of a planned take-over of a FTSE-listed business, we successfully identified key performers best suited to the organisation's new direction through discreet market intelligence and our understanding of the complexities of a reverse take-over. We were then retained to recruit four c-suite leaders, who benefitted from our unique onboarding executive coaching; three were promoted within two years.
